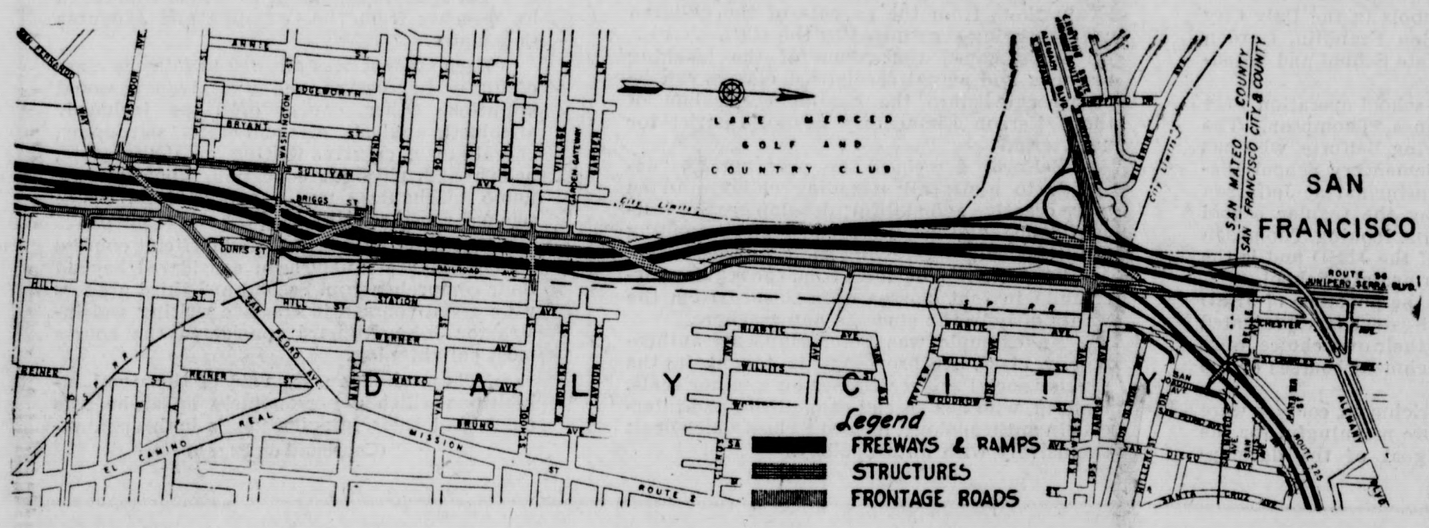
12-Lane Freeway Planned For Daly City



A depressed 12-lane freeway is planned in Daly City where two major traffic corridors coincide.

The north-south corridor includes the Junipero Serra Freeway in San Mateo County and Junipero Serra boulevard in San Francisco. The east-west corridor will include the future State Sign Route 1 Freeway (from the coast), and the Southern Freeway in San Francisco.

This freeway section of eight and 12 lanes, from 0.4 mile south of Eastmoor avenue in Daly City to a connection with Orizaba avenue, will be constructed at a cost of about $10 million.

DALY CITY FREEWAY—This $10 billion State Highway Department project for a depressed 12-lane freeway is tentatively scheduled for the 1963-64 fiscal year. These two traffic corridors will coincide for over a mile and carry an estimated 150,000 vehicles each day by 1975.

The project is not yet budgeted for construction, but is included in the Division of Highways eight-year planning program and tentatively scheduled for the 1963-64 fiscal year.

The two traffic corridors will coincide for over a mile and carry an estimated 150,000 vehicles each day by 1975. This is in excess of volumes presently carried by any freeway in the Bay Area and requires special design study.

The possibilities of using a dual-dual system of lane arrangement, or what amounts to a freeway within a freeway, were studied and rejected because of excessive right of way requirements and inherent inflevibility in the event of unforeseen traffic distribution.

When completed, this scenic interstate freeway will provide much needed relief for peninsula traffic, doubling the existing freeway capacity south of San Francisco, according to J. P. Sinclair, assistant state highway engineer.

Ideas for the beautification of the Junipero Serra Freeway have been exchanged with the State Division of Beaches and Parks, in San Mateo County Park and Recreation Commission, the San Mateo County Horsemen's Association and the Tri-County Committee for Freeway Beautification, composed of representatives from San Mateo, Santa Clara and San Francisco counties. Landscaping is planned for all sec- completion of the various construction contracts.

ELEM. SCHOOL DISTRICT BLASTS STREET PROPOSAL

The Jefferson Elementary School District leveled its big guns at the proposed $200,000 "White Street" extension last Thursday night when it voted to file condemnation proceedings against the project.

The special board meeting, called by Superintendent Richard Foster, convened at 6:15 p. m. and eight minutes later unanimously passed the resolution to halt any future construction of the project.

The trustees first adopted the resolution opposing White street, and then approved the hiring of attorney John Lynch of Wilson, Harzfeld, Jones and Morton at $150 per day to represent them.

Lynch filed the condemnation resolution against the county of San Mateo on Friday morning at the county clerk's office in Redwood City.

The order said that "it is the intention of this district to construct and maintain a public school and attendant facilities in and for said district, in and on this land."

The opposition to the project, which will connect Park Plaza with 87th street, is based on the needs of classroom area at Garden Village School.

"We need this area for further growth in our school district," said board member Joe Lewkowitz.

If the school district's order is upheld, the street will not go through. Architect Theodore Tronoff, whose company is doing the studies on the routes for the street, said that it is necessary for the route to cut through property which the school now has in use, in order to reach Park Plaza.

The architect said all four alternate routes are planned through the school and will be presented to the San Mateo County board of supervisors for approval in the near future.

The money for the construction, which actually isn't an extension of White street but is an extension of Park Plaza, is in the current county budget.

The school district's move will necessitate a court action between the school district and the county. The JESD board expects to hire architects at the next meeting to begin studies on the school expansion program at Garden Village.

San Bruno Miss Is DreamGirl

Carol Ann Maraccini, 18-year-old San Bruno beauty, is the Dream Girl of the 1962 San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

The charming Capuchino High School graduate was chosen from a field of 13 beauties representing Peninsula cities from Menlo Park to Daly City. She will reign over the 28th annual Fair and Fiesta August 3-11. As Dream Girl she also becomes the county's official hostess for the next 12 months.

Carol Ann, a native San Franciscan, is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 114 pounds and measures a trim 35-24-35. She entered the Dream Girl competition after being selected Miss San Bruno earlier this month. A runner-up in last year's San Bruno contest, she decided to try again this year after her father, William, a San Francisco longshoreman, convinced her that she could win.

The San Bruno beauty, who describes herself modestly as "just an average teenager," will represent San Mateo County in the Maid of California contest at the State Fair in Sacramento next month.

She plans to attend College of San Mateo this fall. She will be helped along by a college scholarship fund established by the California Jockey Club. Other prizes include a glamour wardrobe from Macy's Hillsdale, a charm course and a modeling school scholarship.

Karen Ann Jensen of San Carlos, winner of last year's Dream Girl title, presented the crown and official bouquet to Carol Ann. Judging was held in the new Twin Industrial Building at the Fairgrounds before a crowd of 600 city and county officials and civic leaders.

Delfinos Get 1-10 Years

The Delfino brothers were sentenced to State Prison Monday for their part in the slaying of Willard (The Angel) Lopez at the Thornton Beach brawl on April 17.

San Mateo County Superior Judge J. A. Branson sentenced the brothers—Barry, 19, and Larry, 21—to concurrent terms on voluntary manslaughter and conspiracy to commit assault with a deadly weapon.

The first charge carries a one-to-ten year sentence and the second a one-to-five year term.

Emergency Hospital Info To Be Available

Information on available hospital emergency treatment facilities will be placed in the hands of every Daly City resident, city manager Ed Frank said this week.

The residents will be informed on what hospitals are available, ambulance services and other medical procedures, Frank added.

This was announced at a recent meeting in Daly City of county officials who explored the possibility of an arrange-

City Tax Rate Remains Same

Daly City officials, after a bit of financial hard work, came up with the same tax rate as last year—$1.48 per $100 of assessed valuation.

City manager Ed Frank said the city paid off its bills, ended up with a surplus and will be adding three more firemen and three more policemen.

Total expenditures for the 1962-63 fiscal year will be $1,544,761. This money will be raised by property taxes and other sources, including sales tax, in-lieu tax, gas tax, business license tax, fines and penalties and unsecured property tax; and surplus revenues derived from savings from the previous year's operation.

HS Board Is Forced To Borrow

For the first time in its history, the Jefferson Union High School District has found itself with an empty purse.

As a result the Board of Trustees voted unanimously Monday night to accept a resolution asking the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors to borrow $700,000 to fulfill the obligations of the district from now until December 15. At that date the reserve will receive its first installment of district taxes.

The money will be raised through short-term tax anticipation notes and will cost the district a "minimal" $2,500 in interest.

This is the first time in history that the JUHSD has been unable to meet the projected expenses through its own reserve. The reserve, which has been criticized by many as being too large, now stands at $397,000. The predicted expenses of July and August will deplete it to $23,000 by August 31.

Fairlawn Court Residents Fight Re-Zoning Plan

Residents of Fairlawn Court in Westlake won another "moral" battle Monday night in their attempt to discourage the Henry Doelger Builder Co. from constructing a two-story apartment building across from their homes.

The filibuster lasted two hours as T. C. Tice, F. J. Flaherty, John Flynn, George Knight and others had their say.

The area, directly adjacent to the Westlake Library, is presently zoned single family residential, commercial and unclassified.

The petition, which failed in a majority vote of the planning commission and was subsequently sent to the council, asks for a change of zoning to multiple residential to accommodate the 53-unit apartment.

After all the arguments were heard, the council sent the matter back to the planning commission for further study.

Tice, of 15 Fairlawn Court, called the matter "unadulterated spot zoning." Tice, who claims 35 years experience in rehabilitation engineering and real estate appraising, said if the area were changed from single to multiple residential, it would place an unwarranted burden on the persons who bought for single.

Flaherty, of 72 Fairlawn Court, claimed Doelger Corp. sold him his home "under false pretenses" because be bought with the idea the area would remain single family residential.

This argument was reiterated by George Knight, who said apartments were not considered when the area was first planned.

Flynn, who held the floor for some time, said Westlake is getting "just like San Fran-

Northgate Transit Losing Money On Palisades Route

The Palisades route of the Northgate Transit System is a money-losing proposition, according to transit lines president Charles D. Lucas.

In answer to a query by Patricia Baker of 80 Avalon drive, on why Northgate Transit buses don't run into parts of Westlake Terrace, Lucas said:

"We've run into the Palisades section since 1957. It's still a money-losing proposition."

Unless there is a substantial increase in customers, Lucas added, the transit lines will not add bus stops in the area.

"Before we started going into the Palisades, we received about 1,000 phone calls from Palisade residents asking for the service into that area.

"Where those people are now, we don't know."

The bus line into Westlake Terrace presently terminates at the "water tank" at Oceanside drive.

Lucas also stated that bus transfers will not be considered by Northgate Transit System since each bus is individually owned and operated.

Improved Service

Northgate Transit and city and chamber of commerce leaders expect an improved bus schedule to go into effect by September 1 in Daly City.

Designated bus zones are to be marked in residential areas. Lines will be painted out from curbs.

Buses will run on 20 minute schedules. Buses are to be run under the authority of th Public Utilities Commission and will be required to be inspected for mechanical condition every month.

Drivers will be required to be

Emergency Procedure

Editors Note:

The following emergency procedure is printed as a service to Daly City residents:

In the event of a serious accident in which a person is unconscious, is bleeding profusely, is apparently having difficulty with breathing, is conscious but experiences considerable pain or loss of body control, or evidences other signs of injury, emergency first-aid procedures should be started at once.

To supplement these, or if no one with thorough first aid training is nearby, the following steps are recommended:

1. If the patient is known to have a personal or family physician, he should immediately be called for instructions.
2. Local fire departments will have available resuscitator equipment for assistance in those cases involving breathing problems and apparent heart conditions.
3. Emergency ambulance service is available around the clock from all four ambulance service companies which operate in San Mateo County. Those based in the north end of the County are:

Callan Innocent Of Tax Swindle Charge

Thomas J. Callan, Jr., wealthy Hillsborough real estate developer and son of the former supervisor, was found not guilty Thursday, July 19, of taking part in a San Mateo county tax delinquent property swindle.

But Sergie Gregoriev, the former San Carlos school teacher with whom he was tried, was found guilty of eight felony counts of forgery and filing false documents.

Maximum sentence would be 160 years in prison.

Superior Judge Thomas Carkeet of Toulumne County, who tried the case without a jury, continued Gregoriev's $2,500 bail and ordered him to appear August 9 for sentencing.

In a 41-page sworn document, the 36-year-old Gregoriev admitted inducing relatives to sign fictitious names to deeds conveying tax-delinquent properties to him.

The deeds later were notarized by Callan who, the judge found, had "no knowledge these were not genuine signatures."

In addition to being charged with forgery and filing false documents, Callan and Gregoriev had been accused of conspiracy.

Callan's father is Thomas J. Callan, former chairman of the San Mateo County board of supervisors and the owner of extensive Peninsula properties.

JESD Completes Unique Education Project

By GARRY NIVER

The Jefferson Elementary School District Summer School has just concluded a unique venture which personifies progressive education with a capital "P."

The summer school, which ended last Friday, encompassed six schools in the Daly City area—Thomas Edison, Ben Franklin, Garden Village, Colma Intermediate School and Woodrow Wilson Schools.

Principals of the six-school operation were John Belforte and James Thompson. The youthful, studious appearing Belforte, who has been in the Jefferson Elementary School District for eight years, is principal at Jefferson Elementary School during the regular school year. The lanky, intelligent looking Thompson is a three-year veteran of the JESD and is the principal at Colma Intermediate School.

The program, under the guidance of JESD superintendent Richard Foster, was presented in two parts. Students, of their own choice, were allowed to enter the enrichment courses or the developmental courses.

The goals for the enrichment courses were designed to make life more meaningful for the children. The primary goal of the developmental courses was for the children to gain more insight in special areas by working directly with the teacher.

This week the teachers participating in the unique educational endeavor are busy making personal and group evaluations of the program. Evaluations from the parents of the children are also being scrutinized by the staff.

It is hoped that some of the teaching methods and actual specialized classes can be incorporated into the regular curriculum of the Jefferson Elementary School District for next term.

Belforte described the program as "designed to assist all attending children to be more creative and skillful; develop greater self-confidence, and acquire broader understanding of intrinsically interesting subject areas."

The program deviates from the regular curriculum in that classes were formed from the wants of both the students and teachers.

An example was Peter Hansen's anthropology class. Anthropology is taught in the regular social science classes on a minor scale. Hansen, who has special capabilities and interests in anthropology, formed a class which dealt exclusively with anthropology.

The class, made up of six, seventh and eighth graders, delved into the structures of man and his culture. The class used slide projectors, movies, phonograph records and an anthropological library.

The staff and children were also stimulated by speeches from the Canadian and Japanese Consulates.

Each student was allowed to join the class of his or her desire, and was given personal attention. Other course offerings included: arithmetic analysis, arts and crafts, astronomy, choral music, creative writing, great literature, health and physical education, homemaking, home mechanics, music appreciation, space science, speed reading, and the world of fish.

The children were offered difficult courses which had previously been considered beyond their comprehension. Second and third graders were given courses in creative writing and instructor John Richard considered the course most enlightening.

"These children are void of the usual inhibitions which a person picks up as he gets older, and their imagination is both spontan-

WATCHMAN HIRED AT JEFFERSON HIGH SCHOOL

A night watchman has been hired to prevent further losses from vandalism at Jefferson high school, John Mongan, principal, said Monday.

The move came after malicious mischief at the high school had caused more than $2,000 damage to contractors' equipment and supplies in their work on the new school addition.

Mongan said the situation "was so bad that some of the subcontractors were threatening to pull off the job," until the contractor hired the guard on Friday.

The losses to date amount to nearly $600 in labor and material for a masonry contractor who, among other items, had to repair a mortar mixer three times and replace 666 broken concrete blocks. The cost of repairing the mixer was $105 while the broken concrete blocks cost $226.

Another construction firm suffered losses of $616 when unknown vandals caused damages of $306 to a tractor and $228 to a generator.

A third firm accounted the total malicious damage at the school at $421 including 12 frames and gates worth $14 each that were removed from the building site.

An electrical contractor totaled a bill of $458 including replacement of $300 windows in a panel truck.

Besides these losses, Grounds Superintendent Bill Lewis said that 160 broken windows in the auto shop, currently being renovated, will have to be replaced. He estimated that between $800 to $1000 damage had been caused by vandals so far.

Lewis noted that the losses from vandalism did not occur during the recent construction strike but that they began after work was resumed.

Mongan also said Monday that the parents of the children responsible for the damages would be financially responsible. The vandals, however, are still unknown.

The principal also asked that children stay away from construction areas on the school grounds because of the potential dangers present. He said the new school building should be finished by next spring and added that the old one will then be demolished and the land cleared for playing courts.

Work on the new school building began on January of this year.

cisco" in that Doelger Corp. is being forced to "go up from here on."

He argued that an apartment in the area would wreck the idea of a planned community, since it is proposed to be constructed next to a library and in a single-family residential area.

15 will be $438,000, while total liabilities for that period will run $1,132,000—leaving a deficit of $694,000.

District Superintendent Edward Morgan noted, however, that it is not unusual for a district to borrow funds in this manner. Last year four other districts in San Mateo County had to raise funds in a like fashion.

The loan will be paid back in the latter part of December, when the reserve receives its first installment of district taxes. However, the payment will leave the expanding Jefferson High District's reserve short and probably precipitate another such loan in 1963.

Vandal Worry

In other action, the Board voiced their concern over the recent attacks of vandalism at the Jefferson High School renovation project. An estimated $2,100 in damage has been caused by vandals to date.

Trustee Elio Fontana called the situation "deplorable," and asked for the construction company to co-operate by not leaving tools around in the open to cause temptation.

Ask Legal Action

Board president James Cooper was even more adamant, asking that the names of any persons caught be given to the Board so they could prepare suits. "I think that we should follow with suits for the total amount, and if we have to bring the parents into court, let's do that," Cooper said.

The board decided to send a letter to Daly City Police Chief Roland Petrocchi to make him cognizant of the problem, and to also see if it would be possible to enlist the aid of state investigators.

The trustees concluded the certified hiring for the 1962-63 year by adding three new teachers to the district. Hired were Timothy Yang, teacher of Chinese, for Westmoor; Diane Camilli, physical education teacher, for Jefferson, and Mrs. Phyliss Hoops, history teacher, for Oceana.

The board also created the new office of accounts payable clerk for the district. The new office would be for processing warrants.

Morgan concluded the meeting with a report on his recent tour of Great American Schools.

International Flavor At Calif. State Fair

Displays varying from the silks of Japan to the compact little automobiles from Sweden will set the international flavor of the California State Fair, August 29-September 9.

Display space has now been alloted to Sweden, Japan, Britain, Germany, Canada and Finland. Other countries which are expected to enter the fair's International Exposition are Denmark and Belgium.

The space is given to the consuls of the nations and they create a little bit of the finest of their country in the space.

The finest merchandise and the most colorful costumes are habitually put into the display.

Last year the Swedish exhibit featured the products of 46 manufacturers, dedicated in such a way that fair-goers would understand the scope and diversity of Sweden's economy.

The International Exposition, dubbed the Court of the World, is annually established in the Women's building at the fair grounds.

This week, the German display was turned over to a special committee appointed by Horst E. Berenz, recently appointed German consul for San Francisco. Chairman of the committee will be Robert Davis, San Francisco attorney, and Hans J. Grethe.

The German exhibit, which will occupy 4,000 square feet, will feature vehicles, craftsmanship and travel.

Flood Control Hearing Is Set

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors has fixed August 21 at 2:30 p.m. in the Hall of Justice and Records, Redwood City, as the time and place for a public hearing to establish the Colma Creek flood control zone within the San Mateo County flood control district.

The natural watershed boundaries of the Colma Creek zone include portions of the incorporated cities of South San Francisco, San Bruno, Daly City, Pacifica and Colma.

A basic issue appears to be a reluctance on the part of upstream cities to be assessed for any portion of the cost of downstream works on a branch of the watershed not carrying drainage from those specific properties.

SSF Attorney Arrested For Drunk Driving

A 44-year-old South San Francisco attorney was arrested last week on charges of drunk driving and assault and battery of police officers.

Scheduled to appear in court July 26 at 10 a. m. is Richard Patrick Lyons, who was arrested early Thursday morning at the intersection of Magnolia and Grand avenues.

South San Francisco police said Lyons was heading west on Grand avenue when officers Robert Moon and Gary Paoli, in their patrol car, noted he was driving erratically.

Responding to the patrol car's signal to pull over, police said Lyons did as instructed but did not stop close enough to the curb.

When officer Paoli approached the stopped vehicle, the report stated that "the defendant drove the vehicle toward the officer." The officer escaped injury by pushing himself away from the auto against the fender.

According to the police, the attorney refused to identify himself or to cooperate with the officers, insulting their ancestry and intelligence. He also refused to take the roadside sobriety test.

Lyons was taken to Junipero Serra Hospital where he refused to take a blood test. Upon his return to the station, he was released on bail of $78.75.

Woman Foils Rape Attempt

A rape attempt was frustrated by an automobile horn last Thursday when a Pacifica housewife was on her way to meet her husband in San Francisco.

Patricia Shapiro, 38, of 1289 Escalero street, was stopped for a red light in her station wagon at Haight and Divisadero streets at 3:40 a.m. when a man yanked open the car's door, pushed her away from the driver's seat and took the wheel.

She was unsuccessful in her first attempt to reach the horn until, after an aimless 15-minute drive through the Fillmore district, the assailant pulled over near the State Motor Vehicles Department building at Fell and Baker streets.

Then as he forced her back on the seat, tightening his hands around her neck, she pressed the car's horn with her foot. The man fled on foot with her purse.

Mrs. Shapiro told her story to Patrolman Walter Huebner at Baker and Hayes streets but police were unable to find the assailant.

She said the purse contained a down payment which she and her cab-driving husband had planned to make on a new house. The amount of money in the purse was not disclosed.

Sailor Returns To See Baby For First Time

When the four Navy Reserve ships returned to Treasure Island last Tuesday abord the USS Edmonds was an eight-year veteran whose wife had given birth to a daughter while his ship was at sea heading for Viet Nam.

Donald Noyes, storekeeper second class aboard the destroyer escort, saw his daughter, Cindy, for the first time last week when he returned. The baby was born to his wife, Dorothy, on February 18.

The Noyes live at 141 Park Plaza drive. They were one of the first residents in Westlake, buying the 12th home to be sold, in May, 1950.

The sailor's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Noyes of 32 Belmont drive.

Burglar Takes 4 Tires, Cash

Four tires and $77 in cash were taken in a burglary at the Flying A gas station on 7200 Mission st. over the weekend.

Jack F. Pardella, a partner, reported to Daly City police that the burglar gained entrance to the station's main office early Sunday morning either by using a key or through an unlocked window.

Overdose Fatal To DC Resident

A 54-year-old Daly City resident assertedly took an overdose of sleeping pills last Thursday evening and was pronounced dead on arrival at Junipero Serra Hospital.

The victim was Charles W. Tracy, 54, of 19 Morningside drive. His wife reported the suicide attempt to Daly City police.

Fireman Hurt In SSF Fire

A South San Francisco fireman was injured Monday morning in a fire at 103 Cherry avenue.

Fire Chief John Marchi said Joe Lewis cut his right hand on a plate glass window while he was attempting to extinguish the blaze. Chief Marchi said the fire started in the front bedroom and was probably caused by a cigarette.

Lewis was taken to Kaiser hospital for treatment. The chief estimated damage to the house was under $1000.

Woman Injured In Hit-and-Run

A 61-year-old Palo Alto woman was injured Saturday when the automobile in which she was riding was struck at the intersection of Airport boulevard and Linden avenue.

South San Francisco police said that the woman, Etta Duran, of 2335 Cooley avenue, suffered a scalp laceration requiring 10-12 stitches when Lewis Ninham, 25, of 1403 DeHaro st., San Francisco, assertedly ran a stop sign while traveling north on Airport boulevard, hitting the auto driven by Harold E. Josewski, 56, of 1939 Capitol street, Palo Alto.

Police said that Ninham sped away continuing north on Airport boulevard. He was arrested 20 minutes later by two California Highway Patrolman in Brisbane and taken into custody on felony charges of hit-and-run and drunk driving.

Man Against Cancer

Mrs. Edward Jenanyan, president of the American Cancer Society's San Mateo County Branch, just back from the Seattle World's Fair, reports that the society's "Man Against Cancer" exhibit is a must-see for Daly City fair-goers.

Housed in the Coliseum Building, the exhibit salutes 25 years of advancements in cancer research. It also demonstrates what can be done to protect oneself against cancer.

The exhibit covers 8,000 square feet. "It is unique in many ways," Mrs. Jenanyn said. "It represents the first time that this generation's important achievements in cancer control have ever been brought together in one place for the public to see."

Entrance to the exhibit is through a darkened passage ending in a churning illuminated ball—symbolic of the enigma of cancer. Around it are 20-foot pylons pierced by openings representing cancer breakthroughs of the last 25 years.

Displays range from a massive electron microscope to a tiny vial of cancer-causing viruses. The exhibit also includes hundreds of photographs.

Other elements are a polyoma virus model, a heart-lung machine, a chunk of a tree showing plant cancer, a germ-free chamber for laboratory mice, intricate laboratory apparatus, and models of equipment used in radiation therapy.

In the area devoted to showing the importance of early cancer detection are a series of "technimations" which demonstrate how cancer spreads. There also is a "lite-tronics" panel on which viewers, by pressing buttons, can find out cancer incidence and cure rates for various parts of the body.

There are also sections devoted to chemotherapy (the search for drugs effective against cancer), virology (the effort to find viruses responsible for human cancer) and immunology (the body's resistance to cancer).

A corps of American Cancer Society volunteers man the exhibit. An information desk at the exit distributes free pamphlets. The exhibit is jointly sponsored by the Society and the National Cancer Institute of the federal government.

Don't Miss This!

Recent News Item: "More than 16,500,000 people are now receiving over one billion dollars a month in social security benefits."

Another recent news item: "Because of changes in the law in 1960 and 1961, several thousand people in the United States have money coming to them from social security but are not receiving it. Unless they apply for this money promptly, they will never receive it."

If you are over 65, still working, and have never applied for your social security benefits, you may be one of the people described in that last news item.

To find out for sure, stop by your local social security office, at 761 South Van Ness avenue, San Francisco, or by calling MIssion 7-9722. Some social security benefits may be payable to you even though you continue to work.

Royal Thievery

The wave of opposition which greeted the proposal to levy a 20 per cent federal withholding tax against income from dividends and interest was, it would seem, far greater in intensity and volume than the Administration expected. There is good reason why that should be so.

The objections are unusually varied. For one thing, this is not a new tax, but a complicated and costly method of collecting taxes which in multitudes of cases are not owed in the first place. The principal burden would fall on people in the lower income tax bracket, where the effective income tax rate is far below 20 per cent.

Obtaining refunds for overpayment is a time-consuming process. Meanwhile, the government would have taken—long ahead of due date—funds which otherwise could have been deposited or invested, and brought income to their owners. Investment objectives established for the education of children, retirement and other goals would thus be undermined.

Great numbers of people—many in the low brackets—reinvest dividends and leave interest on savings deposits intact so that they will produce more interest. But, should the bill pass, 20 per cent of such income would be taken in advance, and these people would suffer accordingly.

WHAT'S NEW in AGRI-BUSINESS?

For years farmers were unable to safely store wet grain at low cost because oxygen in the air spoiled it. Preventive measures were too expensive.

Purdue scientists experimented with a new "breathing chamber" for wet grain storage. Its purpose: to prevent air (oxygen) from touching the stored grain. It does this by controlling the movement of protective carbon dioxide gases formed by fermentation of air and moisture in the grain.

Breathing chamber, built into foundation of wet grain storage tanks, stops spoilage caused by oxygen. Now it's possible to store 4,000-20,000 bushels inexpensively.

"WHY?"

By Paris B. Simmons

Introducing Mr. Max Rafferty, candidate for office for California State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Mr. Rafferty is one of the two run-off candidates resulting from the primary last June. His opponent, Mr. Richardson, will answer the same interview questions in an ensuing issue of this publication.

The office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction is secondary only to the office of Governor, from a standpoint of influence on our state and local functions. Both candidates running for this high office are extremely well qualified. Both have long years of experience in education. It is necessary, therefore, that the conscientious voter study closely the philosophy of both individuals on education, to evaluate and vote for the individual, who is best for the greatest number of children of our state.

The writer wishes to express his appreciation to Mr. Rafferty for his co-operation in the following interview:

Questions from Paris B. Simmons to Mr. Max Rafferty, Candidate, State Superintendent of Public Instruction:

1. What do you believe the Public School System, under your direction, will be able to do to assist in lowering the rate of juvenile delinquency in our state?

Answer—(1) Improve reading ability. (2) Give teacher more disciplinary authority. (3) Upgrade status and dignity of subject matter. (4) Develop techniques of identifying incipient delinquency in the lower grades. (5) In larger population centers, encourage trade and vocational high schools. (6) Work for a state version of the old CCC, where older male delinquents can be assigned part of the year to do healthful, useful outdoor work under special instructors.

2. What proposals do you have, if elected, to improve reading abilities of the school children of the state?

Answer—(1) Get better readers by stopping state printing and selection of textbooks. (2) Stress the phonics approach for 85% of all children, but retain other methods for those who learn better in other ways. (3) In larger districts, set up special classes or clinics in centralized locations for older elementary children.

3. In your opinion, is there a connection between inability to read and delinquency? (Please explain.)

Answer—All evidence indicates an almost perfect correlation between poor reading and drop-outs. I'm sure the same is true of other types of delinquency. A high school non-reader, for example, is confronted with almost certain failure and frustration. He leaves school young, and gets into trouble.

4. What are your views on school discipline? (Will you please indicate the authority or responsibility of the teacher in this regard — and at what point you feel the administration (principal) should take over.)

Answer—The teacher should handle all normal problems of classroom misbehavior—talking, moving about, ordinary occasional truancy, mild impudence, etc. Behavior verging upon the pathological—obscenity, violence, threats, sadism, etc.—should be promptly referred to a qualified administrative officer who has full power to take the appropriate action. The offending pupil should not be returned to his class without the approval of the instructor.

5. This question is left open. You may present a question yourself that you wish to comment upon, or a message to our community.

There is a certain "point of no return" in delinquency, beyond which the school cannot go in helping the delinquent. The older delinquent, perhaps with a court record, dealing in threats or blackmail, carrying concealed weapons, participating in direct assault upon other pupils, is a clear and present menace to the vast majority of normal children in his vicinity. He must be removed from this environment, even as we would remove a typhoid carrier and quarantine him. The state must provide solutions patterned after the suggestions I have made in No. 1 to ensure the ultimate solution of this problem. Remember, a high school is not a penal institution, nor is it a hunting preserve. It is a place where the great Art of Teaching is practiced by those who love it and for those who desire its benefits. Haters of the Art cannot profit from it. For them, the state must provide a substitute.

Thanks for letting me participate in this!

PERSONNEL GLIMPSES . . .

July being the start of the fiscal year, it follows that more personnel have been hired on this than on any other month. Ten members of the Daly City Police Department celebrate anniversaries this month. Police experience of these members ranges from one year to 18 years.

Patrolman James Welsh . . . Jim now has 18 years of service. He has worked in the radio cars on all three platoons, and presently functions as Records Sergeant for the Records Division.

Officer Welsh is also Departmental Rangemaster. These duties consist of the reloading of ammunition, purchase and repair of targets, and an instructional job on the use of police firearms. For over 25 years, Welsh has also been a member of the volunteer component of the fire department.

Jim and wife, Katie, have one son, James Joseph, who is presently serving with the U.S. Air Force.

Motorcycle Officer Edward Beecher . . . Ed also has passed the 18-year mark with the Department. He has worked on the Second and Third Platoons in the radio cars, and for the past 15 years has operated a solo motorcycle for the Traffic Division.

Officer Beecher has a brother serving with the Department. Ed and spouse, Mildred, are the proud parents of three children. They are Gary, Robert and Debra.

Patrolman John Van Otten . . . John celebrates 12 years as a policeman. He is a veteran of all three platoons as a radio car operator. He has also worked the three-wheeler motorcycle for the Traffic Division.

Officer Van Otten is a veteran of the World War II Philippines campaign with the Army. He is a former teamster, and has been an active member of the Peninsula Police Officers' Association. John has worked in various capacities on behalf of the Police Athletic League. John and wife, Hilah, have one son, Roy, at home.

Sergeant Jerry Galindo . . . Jerry is Patrol Sergeant for the Third Platoon. He now has nine years of service with the Department. The Sergeant has worked a radio car for the Second and Third Platoons, and has been a member of the Detective Division before his present assignment. He is active in police identification work, and is a participating member of an Identification Officers organization.

Jerry and wife, Ruth, have recently added to the population with young Michael. Jerry Galindo III also lives at home.

Sergeant Richard Sims . . . "Rich" now has six years with the Department, and is presently Patrol Sergeant for the Second Platoon. Sergeant Sims is a radio car veteran of the Second and Third Platoons, and has served a tour of duty with the Detective Division. He is a graduate of the San Francisco City College law enforcement program. He has served with the Marine Corps. He was formerly a civilian police dispatcher with the Daly City Department.

The Sarge and wife, Audrey, have five daughters at home. They are Cheryl, Gail, Debbie, Kathy and Karen.

Motorcycle Officer Richard de Losa . . . This Richard also has six years in the business. He has worked the radio cars on the Second and Third Platoons, and has worked with the Traffic Division for the last four years. Officer de Losa has served with the Air Force.

Rich and wife, Edwina, are the parents of Michael and Kimberly de Losa.

Patrolman Ralph Warren . . . Ralph is another six-year veteran. He has been assigned to radio car sections on both night watches and presently labors on the Second Platoon. Officer Warren is another Air Force man.

Ralph and spouse, Peggy, are the parents of Robert, Kathy and Kari Warren.

Patrolman Alvin Nicolini, Jr. . . . Al comes from a police family. He will shortly be sewing his five-year hashmark on his sleeve. He has worked radio car sections for both night watches, and is currently assigned to the Third Platoon.

Officer Nicolini and wife, Helene, are the parents of Kevin and Kim Nicolini, and very recently added to the population with Kimberly Marie Nicolini.

Clerk Typist Giovanna Crenshaw . . . The eboullient Dickie Crenshaw has completed her first year with the Daly City Police. This Westlake miss labors in the Records Division. We have found that she is a favorable addition to the decor of the business office, and that she performs her duties with aplomb and dispatch.

Patrolman Thomas Donohue . . . Tom completes one year with the Department. He has worked a radio car section for all watches as a training measure, and is currently assigned to the Third Platoon. This policeman is a three-year Marine Corps veteran.

Officer Donohue and wife, Gen, have recently added to the population with young Michael Kevin Donohue.

Something For Everyone

by Samuel Chandler

Have you read Little Me by Patrick Dennis? It is an extraordinary book where everything is fictitious, even the author's name. Patrick Dennis—he wrote "Auntie Mame," you know—is the pen name of a writer named Edward Everett Tanner.

Little Me professes to be the intimate memoirs of a great star whose name is Belle Poitrine. To make the story more credible, the author includes photographs of Belle with great stars—some real and some fictitious. One picture shows four persons: one is 85, one is middle-aged, one is in her early twenties, the other is six. All are posed by the same woman, a great model named Jeri Archer. The photographer is Cris Alexander.

The story begins with Belle's birth on the wrong side of the tracks and ends after she has embraced religion and retired to a mansion in Connecticut. Poor Belle passes through four marriages, blackmail, a murder trial, and alcoholism.

Among the roles she creates are Eve in Paradise Lost (she's nude, of course); a cheer leader in a modern version of The Scarlet Letter; Pilate's mistress in Jesus Wept; a pirate queen in Jolly Roger; Ann Boleyn in Oh, Henry! and finally Taran's other wife.

The whole story, pictures and all, is a clever satire that pans popular memoirs as those by Louella Parsons and Zsa Zsa Gabor. It is even dedicated to 58 of Hollywood's notable stars whose stories will follow.

Satires like this rip the covers off of things we can't see and show us the foibles of society that we perpetuate. If they are as cleverly written as Little Me, they accomplish their high purpose by making us laugh at ourselves and by making us try to change ourselves.

COUNTY DOINGS

by JACK WOOD

A last ditch drive was started July 19 by Supervisor James Fitzgerald to save the north county flood control district.

Cities are unwilling to claim any financial obligation for the work which is designed to end the Colma Creek flooding.

South San Francisco and the county note that the low land floods are the result of water running off slopes which are in the Daly City, San Bruno and Pacifica city limits.

The cities, however, charge that much of the flood trouble is the result of South San Francisco's industrial development in the low lands.

Officials in Daly City, San Bruno and Pacifica are being contacted informally in an effort to erase earlier protests filed against the $1.7 million project.

The present protests from the three hillside cities have been ruled improper by district attorney Keith Sorenson.

A decrease in passenger loads is making it increasingly difficult for the Southern Pacific Railroad to finance its Peninsula commute service.

The SP currently is losing $900,000 per year. Passenger loads, which reached a peak of 16,000 per day each way in 1954, have dropped to 11,500 per day.

San Mateo County Transit Study Committee feels the commute service may eventually lose the battle with automobiles.

Other railroads across the country are faced with the same problem. The Chicago-Northwestern purchased all new rolling stock for a Chicago commute line, but within two years is running heavily in the red following opening of a nearby expressway.

Gordon Crockett, of the SP passenger traffic department, said the railroad intends to keep on as long as the commute service is used—"but we must make economies in order to continue."

He said there may be a possibility of dropping stations and consolidating stations—such as a joint San Bruno-Lomita Park depot at San Bruno.

LAW IN ACTION

PIRACY

The colorful pirate of old captured your imagination but not that of the shipowners or the governments that lost their cargoes and treasures.

Pirates were "enemies of mankind." Their acts became crimes against that government as well as against the "law of nations." A government would try to catch and to punish them no matter how and where the piracy took place.

From these early days, a rule of international law called "the piracy principle" came into being: As to crimes against mankind. Any nation might seize and punish such a person. He did not need to be one of its citizens. The crimes could be committed inside or outside its territory. Jurisdiction is worldwide.

Nations often punish their own people for crimes beyond its borders. Nations can punish aliens for crime within their borders. They can punish aliens for crimes committed against that country when they later come into that country. A nation can also punish an alien for piracy under international law.

What about war crimes done on orders of superiors? The World War II allies have declared that certain Nazi leaders committed punishable crimes against nations.

Now and then some nations may allow a court to try a person "in absentia." Such trials without the accused present were once popular, but little comes from such trials, and they are not as highly regarded as trials in which a person has a fair chance to defend himself.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

Thor Missile To Be Shown At County Fair

The giant Thor-Agena missile-satellite will be on display at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta, August 3 to August 11.

The 80-foot space vehicle will be displayed in the courtyard of the new Twin Industrial building. A special concrete "pad" has been built for the purpose.

The Thor-Agena recket combination has been used successfully many times in a continuing USAF program to gather vital research data on conditions in space. Initial power for blast-off to great altitude is supplied by the first-stage Thor ballistic missile. When the Thor engine ceases to fire, the second-stage Agena separates and is put into desired orbit by its own rocket engine.

While in orbit, telemetering systems in the Agena instrument capsule radio back information on vehicle performance and various phenomena encountered in space. On radio command from the ground, it is possible to return the instrument capsule back to earch for further study.

Thor-Agena instrument capsules have been successfully recovered many times, either in mid-air by aircraft or from the sea by surface vessels.

The space vehicle will be set up in vertical launch position for the showing, standing more than 80 feet high. The Thor section is six feet in diameter for most of its length, tapering to fit the five-foot diameter of the Agena satellite where the two are mated.

Airmen of the USAF Orientatio Group, Norton AFB, San Bernardino, Calif., will set up the display, and will be on hand during the showing to answer spectators' queries.

Tax Fund Nets San Mateo Co. $2,082,252

State Controller Alan Cranston last week reported that apportionments from the highway users tax fund during the 1961-62 fiscal year totalled $443,051,812 — an increase of $8,761,311 from the previous year.

The total allocated to San Mateo County in the fiscal year which ended June 30 was $2,082,252.24.

California's 58 counties received a total of $90,834,467 from this source during the year, Cranston said. An apportionment of $315,796,780 went into the state highway fund for use on state highways, and $36,420,365 was transferred into the state highway fund for ultimate distribution to cities.

The state gasoline tax of six cents a gallon is the principal source of revenue for the highway users tax fund. It is divided as follows: Four cents to the state highway fund for highways; 1⅜ cents to the counties and five-eights of a cent to the cities.

Under state law, the money must be spent for construction, improvement and maintenance of highways, roads and streets.

FISHING

When you're approaching good fishing waters, be quiet, advises the National Automobile Club.

Conversation won't disturb the fish, but the thumping of an oar on the bottom of the boat or the squeaking of an oarlock will really cause them to scurry away.

Police Patrol Urged To Curb Delinquency

Additional police patrol of areas where juvenile delinquency might occur was proposed July 17 by members of the North County Council of Cities Youth Advisory Commission.

The group, meeting at the San Bruno city council chambers, agreed on two points:

(1) The problem of prevention of juvenile misbehavior rests with the probation department, the schools and professional authorities.

(2) Purpose of the commission is one of control rather than of prevention.

The commission is represented by one member of each of the North County cities. Chairman is Bob Price, councilman and vice-mayor of San Bruno.

Each youth organization of the cities has been asked to submit a report of its functions and suggestions. A report of drop-outs from high schools and a report from the county recreation and parks department on youth employment was submitted. The parks department hires numbers of juveniles during the summer months.

Bill Introduced To Study Uses Of Alcatraz Is.

Congressman John F. Shelley introduced legislation last week to establish a Federal Commission to study the possible uses for Alcatraz Island if and when the Federal penitentiary is abandoned.

Under the Shelley proposal, the commission would consist of five members, one appointed by the President, one by the speaker of the House of representatives, one appointed by the president pro tem of the Senate, one by the governor of California, and one by the mayor of San Francisco.

Shelley said the commission would make recommendations for the most appropriate use of the island, estimate costs and financing of recommended programs.

The bill provides that the commission shall report its findings to the congress of the United States. The members of the commission would serve without compensation.

Earlier the San Fransisco congressman moved on another front when he petitioned the secretary of interior to begin surveying the island with a view of designating it as a "Historic site." under the Historic Sites Act of 1935.

KEEP THIS IN MIND

A well designed steering gear should straighten out the wheels automatically after completing a turn in the road, points out the National Automobile Club.

Your gear may be capable of this if given a chance. See that the front wheels are in line and that the "toe-in" is correct. Then see that every part of the steering assembly is well lubricated.

eous and flexible," Richard replied.

Another course in space science gave the children material which is equivalent to almost college level. One of the guest speakers in the space science class was Al Szarvas, from Lockheed Missiles, who helped make the Polaris Missile.

Another class in woodshop allowed fifth, sixth and seventh graders to use power tools, which were formerly reserved for only high school youths.

Actually there was more to the program than just the enlightenment and education of the children. The 64 teachers in the summer program, along with 1,600 children, also embarked on a new and educational adventure.

The children, ranging from second to seventh graders, attended four instructional classes from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. during the first half of the day.

During the second half of the day the faculty formed discussion sessions and aired their views on the curriculum and areas of their particular interests. They also evaluated the program and planned classroom activities for the following week.

Each teacher group selected a chairman and secretary, and met regularly three times per week, setting up goals and seeking resources as needed.

Once a week the teachers assembled to hear a major presentation on a topic of interest to the group. Some of the speakers during the past session were Superintendent Foster, Robert Shutz, from the State Department of Education, and Dr. Fannie Shaftel, Stanford University sociologist.

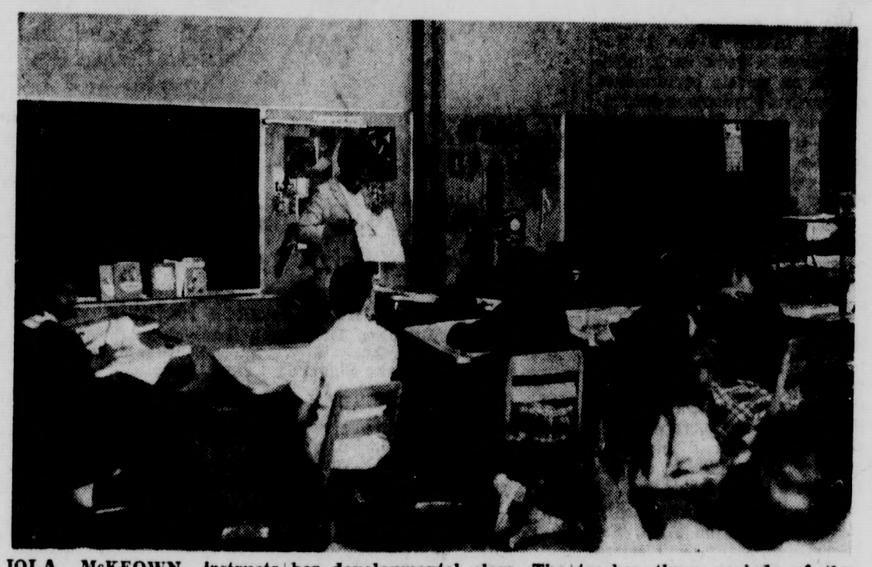
This is the first year that this type of curriculum has been run in the summer school and both Belforte and Thompson were very enthused over the program.

"Summer school is a completely voluntary program and the children attend this school who want to attend," said Belforte.

The success of the new program was borne out in the fact that they experienced only a 21 per cent drop-out in attendance, where the California state average for drop-outs is 35 per cent.

"The capabilities of our youth are greatly underestimated and we are attempting to exploit these capabilities and also let him find and develop his interests and talents while he is still young. This saves him a lot of time when he reaches college," Belforte concluded.

STUDENTS IN Jefferson Elementary School summer session use slide projectors and phonograph records to learn about man in Peter Hansen's anthropology class.



IOLA McKEOWN instructs her developmental class. The children are with the same teacher three periods of the day in developmental classes.

BILLY SHERBERT, Debby Manary and Sandra Allen finish up their plaster castings as Len Sarkon, principal James Thompson, arts and craft teacher Gina Beck and principal John Belforte look on.

SM Heart Association Cautions Vacationists On Over-Exertion

A vacation is a gool time to play, but don't play around with your health, cautions the San Mateo County Heart Association.

Freedom from routine work and possibly a change of scenery may make you feel like a different person. But your body is the same body that's been driving to work, sitting at a desk, coming home to watch television, play bridge or read a book, for the preceding 50 weeks. Hardly Olympic training.

Too many people forget that a body accustomed to soft living does not suddenly change at 5 p.m. on the Friday vacation begins. After a full day's work, they bundle the family into the car and start driving a couple of hundred miles, or until too bleary-eyed to see the road.

If you're planning an athletic vacation, get into shape gradually. Begin with daily moderate exercise — maybe just brisk walking at first — then work up to more strenuous exercise. Vacation or not, moderate exercise regularly performed will help keep you and your heart in good condition.

Few family men are the athletes they were while on the high school or college varsity. Participate in sports if you're physically fit and up to the particular stresses involved. But don't try to impress your family or friends with your strength or endurance. They'll love you anyway, and probably longer. No need to climb the highest mountain in the Sierras, especially if your apricot tree is the only thing you've climbed recently.

Plan activities within your physical capacity. Before you start out on any vigorous vacation, get a thorough physical examination and tell your doctor how you intend to spend your vacation. This is important especially if you are overweight or plan to visit high altitude areas which can put an extra strain on you even if you're in good health.

If your doctor tells you that a particular sport — say scuba diving — is out for you, plan your vacation accordingly. There are many exciting and pleasuable activities that can be substituted with no worries attached.

While your on vacation, or at any time for that matter, pay attention to worning signals like shortness of breath, tired muscles, dizziness or fatigue. They are the body's way of telling you to slow down, take it easy.

Assn. Receives Memorial Gifts

During the month of June, 364 memorial gifts were received by the San Mateo County Heart Association, according to a report just issued by George L. Lorimer, Jr., treasurer of the association.

"In truth, the people whom we memorialize share in our gift-giving, too. We merely take the necessary human footsteps."

Among the people remembered were:

Daly City: Marjorie E. Arata, Gordon L. Coltrin, Domanic Larramendy, Alma E. Lunardini, William D. Phillips and Alvin Washford.

Last weekend at Stanford we had occassion to witness one of sport's greatest moments—the United States-Soviet Field and Track Meet.

Some 153,000 fans were in attendance for the two-day event, which was performed amid sunny, beer-drinking weather. There was none of the latter because Leland Stanford made provisions about alcohol when he founded the University—which was just as well because the amber liquid might have dimmed the perception of the audience.

What impressed us was not so much the performances turned in the by the athletes—although Ron Morris's 16-foot vault and Valeriy Brumel's 7-5 high-jump were feats which we will never forget—but that these athletes from so-called incompatible societies performed in friendship side-by-side.

The most touching and realistic sights of the meet were the introduction and conclusion. As the sun stood high in the sky the athletes from the United States and Russia marched out side-by-side, bearing their respective flags.

. . . Raider shows speed

Somehow they seemed to convey an emotion of sincerity when they met in the center of the field. When Olga Connoly and Galina Evsyukova met in mid field and exchanged the friendship wreath and moving greetings, all else seemed small and insignificant. The differences in political philosophies between the two countries seemed to dissolve. This was friendship at its basic level.

It moved us deeply and will remain a symbol with us that someday there will be an international peace. The worded greetings by the two delegations seemed actually superfluous after the greeting made by the two young girls.

Another touching incident which moved us was when John Cramer wept in grief at not making the required 14-5¼ mark in the pole vault. The young University of Washington vaulter was immediately consoled by Igor Petrenko and Igor Feld, the two Russian vaulters. Petrenko and Feld both brushed the sawdust from the back of Cramer and walked with him for several minutes, trying to cheer the American vaulter and offering their sincere condolences.

The same scene was repeated again when little 15-year-old Estelle Baskerville failed to clear the 5-3 height in the women's high jump. Taisiya Chenchik and Miss Evsyukova immediately ran to the slender Negro girl and offered their sympathies. These three people had something in common, they were bound in international friendship through a code of sports.

The one dark part of the meet was the ominous score board in the north corner of the stadium. We were completely oblivious to it and couldn't help feeling that it wasn't too important to the individuals on the field either. To us, the young people down on the field were not competing to put meaningless numbers up on the scoreboard, but because they enjoyed competing with each other and used this competition as a medium to gain friendship.

(This is the third in a series of articles on the recreation facilities offered by the city of Daly City).

The spacious seven acre recreation area between South Parkview and North Parkview premises is a hive of activity seven days a week, 365 days out of the year.

The much-used location is famed Marchbanks Park, Daly City's largest and oldest recreation area.

The park, donated by John W. Marchbanks in 1921, is a three-tiered area which services over 1000 children weekly.

The seven-acre park's top structure is composed of basketball, teatherball and kick ball courts. The middle section of the three-level recreation area, includes playground equipment, gymnastic equipment, and a spacious grass field.

The newest sport introduced into the Daly City Recreation department's program is crouquet and several crouquet areas have been set up on the grass in the middle section.

Softball for little children, paddle pool, and circle games round out the activities found on the middle field.

The final area is the lower level where Marchbanks famed hardball field lies. The hardball diamond, noted to be one of the finest-kept in the Bay Area, is a constant area of activity. From early morning until night teams practice and play games on the Marchbanks diamond.

The large field also contains two other diamonds' so that several teams may play or work out at the same time.

Besides hardball and softball, kickball, circle soccer, touch football and relay track meets are held on the lower field.

The director of the lower park doubles as a coach, teammate, first-aid intern, pyschologist and all-around big brother to the children. His name is Allen Abraham and his enthusiam for working with the children is noted in the way in which they tag around after him. Abraham is a former little All-American gridder at San Francisco State College and is about to enter the teaching profession.

His "teammate" at Marchbanks, who is equally adept, is comely Diane Gazzano. She is a graduate of the University of California and will begin her teaching career this fall at Mountain View High school.

DIANE CAZZONA

These two young directors supervise and control the activities of the youths who live in the old section of Daly City.

Once each week Allen and Diane assemble the children together and have a physical fitness day. Also, once a week, Dave Ashworth, another SF State student, comes down to Marchbanks and teaches archery. Track meets are held periodically and awards given to the winners in the various events. Another popular activity at Marchbanks Park is checker tournaments.

The supervised facilities are opened at 11 a.m. every morning and run until 5 p.m. The baseball diamonds are opened again at 6:30 p.m. and remain open until 9 p.m.

M & S Builders, Sun Valley Still Top Midget League

The M&S Builders and Sun Valley Dairy squeaked to wins this week to maintain their Tri-City Midget League lead.

The Builders, behind the four-hit pitching of Bruce Brian, nipped the PAL Detectives 3-1 when Bruce Collins smashed a two-run fifth inning triple to drive in what proved to be the winning run.

Leroy Davidson and Leo Bernardini added doubles to the Builder's five-hit attack as M&S played heads up defensive ball to maintain their unbeaten record.

Dave Stone's triple and Jim Skuza's fine pitching effort sparked the Detectives.

Sun Valley Dairy edged the PAL Officers 3-1 in what has to have been one of the outstanding defensive games of the campaign as both teams played errorless ball. Steve Murphy held the Officers to three hits and struck-out 13 in going the distance for the win. Lou Lodigiani's two-run triple and Mike Andreanni's two hits paced the Dairy hitting.

Paul Ancel struck-out five and limited the Dairymen to five hits, while the defensive work of Ron Rumble in centerfield highlighted the PAL effort.

Misracks Sporting Goods of Daly City stayed on the heels of the leaders with a 7-3 win over the PAL Sergeants.

Bob Hilsenbager held the Sergeants to two hits, both by PAL pitcher Jerry Martinez, and laced out a pair of doubles and a single to pace the Misrack attack. Abe Schaffer's two hits aided the victory.

The San Bruno Merchants moved into fourth place with a 16-2 win over the Sunshine Gardens improvement club and Parkview of San Bruno edged the Winston Seals 5-4 to round out the week's action.

BYA Matadors Squash OLPH Midgets 13-0

The BYA Matadors opened with a 13-0 win over the OLPH Midgets with Dough Rosen collecting a no-hit shutout. He whiffed ten and walked five in the process. Larry Bray hit two triples and Ron Green went three for four. Also outstanding for the Matadors were Rich Barrett and Tom Reilly.

Joe Morch put his hat to work and pulled out a 6-5 win over the PAL Yankees for the Holy Angels Colts. Tommy Dillon looked good on the mound for the Colts. Tommy Del Sarto and Mike Smith hit triples for the Colts while McArthur of the Yanks hit a three-run homer.

The PAL Giants surprised the BYA Forresters, 8-7, for their first win in 17 games.

Wayne Walorinta pitched a fine game for the Forresters but was unable to hold down the win-hungry Giants. Herb Aceituno scored the tying run in the top of the sixth. A double play by second baseman John Harrison squelched a Forrester rally in the bottom of the sixth. Hits by Aceituno and Steve Manus accounted for the go-ahead runs.

Speith and Caffey of OLM shared mound chores and a one-hit shutout in their team's win over the Holy Angels Lions, 13-0. OLM collected seven hits in the game.

SSF Dragster To Meet Half Moon Bay Record Holder

The showdown of the top dragsters and superstock cars in the United States will probably make this Saturday night's drag race at Half Moon Bay dragstrip one of the most spectacular and exciting events for fans to date.

Heading the list of contenders with his super-charged Chrysler will be Rod Stuckey from Kansas City, Missouri. This will be his first appearance since he was seriously injured competing for the State Championships of 1961 at Half Moon Bay dragstrip. He is considered not only the best in the nation but also Half Moon Bay's strip record holder, hitting speeds of 195 mph.

From South San Francisco Sammy Hale will be driving the Champion Speed Shop Special, the California State Champion of 1962. It is the world's fastest and quickest Chevrolet powered dragster. Hale, who has yet to see defeat in a big match this year, will meet Stuckey head on Saturday night, July 28, in a highly exciting match race.

All entries will be competing for top honors and weekly awards, with a scheduled line-up of precision drivers and top flight entries at Half Moon Bay Dragstrip.

Vic Yerby No-Hits PAL Redsox 1-0

PAL Constable's Dan Ferretti opened up the Westlake Division of the Midget League with a 4-2 win over BYA Bender Roofing, Ferretti gave up three hits and struck-out nine. Joel Carrara of the Roofers looked good giving up four hits from the mound. Bruce Lusty collected two hits for the Constables.

Western Division champions from the early league, PAL Indians, served notice that they are right at home in fast company. They downed George Harrison Realty 9-4. Little Jimmy Anderson was the big stick for the tribe getting three hits. Russ Runge was winning pitcher and top man in the RBI department with three off his triple. Joe Bento started a rally for the Realtors in the 4th with a two run triple, but the Realtors could not catch up.

Misracks Midgets squeezed by Parkmerced 8-7 in a game that featured home runs by Ed Schweitser and Steve Gudelj. Tom Owens and Bob Hilsendager shared mound duties and allowed only 3 hits. The boys from Parkmerced, missing star chucker Bill Frahm, went on the arm of little Eddie Nathan who gave up six hits. Defensive play by Jim Penellie and Don Weiden's game saving catch sparkled the play for Misracks.

Jerry Plyer's Relish Bakery's gang took a new lease on life this week. Tired of drubbings in the early league, they knocked over the topnotch PAL Redsox, 1-0. Vic Yerby chalked up a no-hit shutout in the win. A sacrifice bunt by Mike Plyer scoring Gary Stang from second base was the winning blow. Yerby k'ed seven while Bob Nolan of the Redsox fanned nine. Great play in the field was the key to the Bakery boys' win.

Pete Garcia Leads DC Billiards To 7-6 Win

Big Pete Garcia came through for the Daly City Billiards softball team. The former Jefferson High School athlete came up with a four-hit, 7-6, win over last year's runner-up team. Garcia faced Tino Sabucco, former USF artlete on the mound for the Drugs. Sabucco gave up six hits.

Good pitching and defensive plays were the key to the opening game victory of Ye Old Firehouse over Bob St. Clair's Liquors, 4-2. Rex Bevins pitched a steady game, allowing only four hits.

Martin, St. Clair chucker, pitched a good game but the Firehouse put together walks and two clutch hits for four earned runs. Key hits were by Jerry Kennedy and Frank Brandis.

A ten-inning tie opened the season for the Stumble Inn and the South San Francisco Native Sons. Bill Mendoza gave up seven hits to the Shumble Inn. His performance was matched by Del Underwood, who also allowed seven hits.

Stumble Inn scored their runs on Bob Goldie's single, Leo Martinez' single and Joe Rodriguez' double.

NICOLOPULOS JOINS NO-HIT ELITE CLUB

Bob Nicolopulos gained partial revenge for his PAL Lieutenant teammates in the SSF Merchant Sponsored Baseball League when he became the sixth Pony League pitcher to throw a no-hitter this season. Elsewhere the PAL Captains clinched the 13 - and - Under Eastern Division crown with a pair of wins to highlight last week's play.

PONY LEAGUE

Nicolopulos, whose Lieutenants have been on the receiving end of three of the no-hitters pitched this season, struck-out 12 as his mates pounded out a 12-1 win over Botief Construction.

Clearlite Trophy moved to within a game of at least a tie for the crown by downing PAL Number One 10-3, and then bouncing QFI by a 7-2 count.

Miller Realty stuck close on the heels of Clearlite by winning a pair, edging QFI 6-5 in nine innings, and then blasting Botief Construction 18-6.

Winston Shell escaped the cellar with a pair of wins, topping PAL No. 2 12-4 and then slipping by the PAL Lieutenants 6-4.

Final Pony action saw PAL No. 1 down PAL No. 2 8-4.

13-AND-UNDER EASTERN DIVISION

Wes Robinson doubled in the winning runs in a six-run sixth frame to pave the way for the PAL Captains crown clinching 9-5 win over Twelve Mile House.

Earlier in the week the Captains continued their relentless march for the title with a 7-4 win over Starlite Hofbrau. 12-Mile-House blasted the PAL Inspectors 21-7. Buri Buri L&D downed Plaza Furniture 9-5 and took a forfeit win from the Inspectors and Starlite Hofbrau edged Plaza 7-6 to round out the Eastern division action.

WESTERN DIVISION

The PAL Sergeants moved to within one-half game of the first place in the Western division as they downed the pace-setting Winston Drugs 10-2, and up-ended St. Veronicas 10-4.

Bob Aurrigemma's six-hit pitching, coupled with two hits, topped the win over the Druggists. Tom Olmo also banged out two hits, while Larry Alsterlind and Ron Visneski sparkled defensively for the Sergeants.

Kiwanis outscored St. Veronicas 16-10 as John Castellanos slammed out three hits; Winston Drugs downed the Winston Dukes 9-5; The Dukes edged Bayview 14-10; and the PAL Chiefs downed Bayview 12-7 to conclude the week's action.

Los Angeles' cry-baby Dodgers never have to shed too many tears, because a Dodger losing streak never lasts too long.

They have two guys who make sure of that. Among those in baseball, these pitchers are called "stoppers" and I just wish the Giants had one of 'em. That is, a healthy one.

It would be all we need.

Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax are the two gentlemen I am speaking about. Dodger manager Walt Alston needs only to call upon the "big two." Drysdale is capable of ending any Dodger crisis. And so is Koufax, when his injured index finger is circulating.

This weekend, Don or Sandy (or maybe both) will face the Giants in another drama-packed series in the Southland. And though big plays and great hitting will help tell the tale, the ultimate answer lies out there on the mound.

If Don or Sandy throws his glove onto the Chavez Ravine rubber, it's a good bet that the Giants will turn into little guys.

Regardless of who pitches, it will be a headache for Willie Mays.

Bennett Cerf, host of the "What's My Line" TV show, recently asked guest Willie Mays: "Who is better, Drysdale or Koufax?"

Mays said, "I can't tell . . . I haven't got a hit off either one yet."

San Francisco, with all its potential, still lacks a "stopper." And if the name Marichal fits the description, then it's news to me. Juan is a good pitcher. But not a great one.

He's not a stopper like the L.A. tandem. Marichal isn't that "sure-in" man like Cincinnati's Bob Purkey, or Art Mahaffey, the remarkable man who wins despite being a Philly.

If San Francisco had only one of these so-called stoppers, we would truly be Giants in baseball.

—*—

NOTES—Trends in baseball are ever-changing, but the sudden absence of Bay Area big league infield talent leads me to think that more money can be made at other positions.

Not many of the "big money" players are stationed at shortstop, third or second.

Outfielders and pitchers are the men with the fat paychecks these days. And that's probably why the Bay Area has so few golden gloves around the American and National Leagues today.

At one time the Bay Area had a wealth of infielders, such as past diamond greats Joe Cronin, Eddie Joost, Tony Lazzari and Frankie Crosetti.

Even later, the Bay Area pumped life into one of the great modern teams of an era—the New York Yankees. The Yanks' inner defense was once held down by San Francisco's Jerry Coleman, Gil MacDougald and Berkeley's pepperpot Billy Martin.

Now the Bay Area can fill every position on a major league team except for third, second and short.

Taking a quick look into a mythical major league lineup, I can come up with the following:

First base—Jim Gentile, San Francisco (Orioles) and Dick Stuart, San Carlos (Pirates); outfield—Vada Pinson, Oakland (Cincinatti), Frank Robinson, Oakland (Cincinatti), Howie Goss, South San Francisco (Pirates); catcher—Doug Camilli, Santa Rosa (Dodgers); pitchers—Don Mossi, Daly City (Detroit), and Ernie Broglio, El Cerrito (St. Louis).

But infielders. . . we have not.

Don McMillan of Pacifica, twice main event winner at Alviso but victim of car trouble the next two times out, kept pace with a fourth place in the feature. Dick Larimore of San Jose moved up with his third place spot.

Elk Hunt Permits Now Being Taken

Applications for the controlled tule elk hunt in the Owens Valley of Inyo County must be submitted to the California Department of Fish and Game, 722 Capitol Avenue, Sacramento, by 5 p.m. August 28.

Permits will be issued by statewide drawing for the taking of 20 antlered elk and 40 antlerless elk. This is in keeping with the Fish and Game Commission policy to hold the herd at between 250 and 300 animals which will protect the range from the danger of overbrowsing and the consequent weakening or starvation of the entire herd.

Successful permit applicants will be required to pass a rigid test in marksmanship and a hunter safety examination, as well as paying a $25 fee before receiving a permit.

It's SPARE TIME

at Westlake Bowl

By JIM GREALISH

Thursday night at Westlake was a rough one on bowling pins. Led by Larry Oppenheim, who, after a spare in the first frame, strung eleven straight strikes for a tremendous 290 game, the assault on the pins continued throughout the evening. John Bazzanella, with a string of seven strikes, posted a 268 game and 857 series, Lefty Girardot shot a 229 game and 603 series, Chuck York turned in a 226 game and 568 series and Len Heiser led the Telco bowlers with a 217 and 604. The Kings and Queens 850 Scratch League added the final touches as Bill Soult led the men with 213 and 620 while Tee Rolling was the leading lady with a 212 game and 606 series.

Everyone is helping P.A.L. this year. During the week two teams from the Ice Follies came to Westlake to shoot in the Mixed Fours Championships and also helped to increase the P.A.L. fund.

The second annual Family Doubles Tournament has entered its fourth week with high score in two divisions standing at 1261. Jerri and Ed Norris lead the Father and Daughter division with this total while Tee and Jerry Rolling are high in the Mother and Daughter section with a similar total. Phil and Ed Hargrove with 1253 lead the Father and Son (under 18) division while Ed teamed with his father J. P. Hargrove to lead in the Father and Son (over 18) unit. Maye and Darlene Brown are current leaders among the Mothers and Daughters with Norma and John Bell leading the husband and wife division. The tournament ends September 3 with trophies for the winners in each division.

Westlake women will once again have an opportunity to display thir talents in connection with the Aid Retarded Children Benefit Tournament which starts next month. A "Miss 300" contest will be held to determine a queen who will reign during the Tournament. Entries are available at the Bowl desk and must be in the mail by August 1.

Al Ertassi gave the pins a rough evening in the Ball and Chain Mixed Fives League as he registered a big 604 series with a high game of 219. Jerri Fisher led the ladies with a 162 game and 469 series.

The Westlake Travelers are again taking to the highways. Three teams journeyed to Santa Barbara last weekend for the State Tournament with Hillie Narin setting the pace by posting a 696 series on games of 174-265 and 257. This past weekend, fifteen Westlakers took off for Reno to compete in the Grand Finals of the Gold Coast Classic. August 18 and 19 will find a group at the Tokay Bowl in Lodi.

In the 99'ers Mixed Fives, Rick Dreier shot a big 254 game then continued on this merry way to a 650 series. Gloria Zukor was high in the feminine department with a 154 game and 455 series.

Rich Hottal was the winner of the Friday Jackpot Sweepstakes then defeated Al Balletto in the Rolloff to become the new King of the Hill. Rich took first place by a scant two pins over Tim Dunn.

Bob Preston was the man to watch in the Southwest Handicap as he shot a big 568 series on games of 206-202 and 160.

Last Wednesday was a banner day for the P.A.L. Tournament as $205 was realized through the help of the Brunswick Travel League, a squad of ladies from Bel Mateo Bowl and those shooting in the Northern California Mixed Fours Championship. This put the total over the $3,000 mark for the first twenty-five days leader took over in the Men's League Division the same night as John Olsen of Patt Plastering shot games of 231, 191 and 245 for a 677 scratch series which gave him 731 total after adding his fifty-four pin handicap. Saturday once again found Westlake Bowlers turing out in large numbers to help our youth probram in Daly City.

Once again Judy and Barney Mullen are doing more than share to help our P.A.L. Tournament. This year, not one, not two, but three groups from Phillips and Van Orden will be on hand to bowl for P.A.L. Also scheduled for next weekend are groups from Bagdad Bowl and U.C.T.

Merchant, Trophy Nines Pace SSF Pee Wee Loop

Restaurant Gets Chef Matteucci

The Bunker Restaurant at Cypress Hills golf course in Colma is introducing chef Ottello Matteucci, a San Franciscan well known for his culinary skills.

The Bunker, which features both American cuisine from the broiler and Italian specialties, is the perfect home for Matteucci, since he points out that charcoal-broiled steaks are as well known in Italian kitchens as fettucine and spaghetti.

New musical feature at Cypress Hills is popular Peninsula accordionist Charlie Simms, who entertains Wednesdays through Saturdays in the Bunker and Tee Room, the adjoining cocktail lounge.

Fast becoming a gathering place for professional athletes, the Bunker was recently visited by a delegation of past and present Forty-Niners, hosted by their team captain, Bob St. Clair.

Massive Polio Vaccination Plan Lauded

A leader in Cleveland's recent massive polio immunization drive told Bay Area officials last week that their upcoming "K. O. POLIO" program, largest project of its kind ever undertaken, is the surest way of finally eliminating the paralyzing disease.

Dr. Charles L. Leedham of the Cleveland Acadamy of Medicine flew to San Francisco to confer with Bay Area doctors following several days in Dallas, where a polio epidemic threatens and a Sabin oral vaccine program is being rushed into effect.

Speaking at a special meeting of the Bay Area Medical Association Committee in Burlingame, Dr. Leedham warned that, contrary to popular belief, "pockets of infection" such as exist now in Texas are actually on the increase and could occur in any metropolitan area. The number of cases in Texas so far this year already exceeds the totals for 1960 and 1961, and the rate of incidence approximates that of 1959 when 325 cases were reported.

"The best means science has of elimiminating this growing incidence and knocking out the disease entirely is through mass immunization by the Sabin oral vaccine such as is planned for the Bay Area counties this autumn," he said.

The thoroughly tested vaccine, which is taken orally in a lump of sugar, not only gives a person virtually total immunity against all three forms of paralytic polio, but prevents him from carrying the disease to others. "This represents an important advance over Salk vaccine and should be taken by everyone over three months of age regardless of how many Salk shots a person has received," Dr. Leedham reminded his audience.

Describing the experience in Cleveland with mass immunization, he reported that approximately 1,500,000 people turned out to receive vaccine each of the first two Sundays. The third and final dosage is scheduled for later this month. "The county has never seen anything like it. We believe this is the largest single polio immunization project ever attempted in America, although your program this fall will double it in size," he commented.

The K.O. POLIO program is sponsored by the Bay Area Medical Association Committee representing the doctors of medical societies in six counties. Several hundred vaccine centers will be established throughout the area to dispense the vaccine to as many as 3,500,000 people on September 23, Novenmber 4 and December 9. Visits to polio centers should be made on all three Sundays for immunization against each of the three strains of polio virus.

The task of operating the polio centers and encouraging the entire population to turn out each Sunday will reguire 50,000 to 100,000 volunteers and cooperation from virtually every organization and individual in the area. Dr. Leedham pointed out that the Cleveland program included one county and 92 vaccine centers. Five-thousand volunteers worked in the centers and thousands of others helped with preliminary details. Ninety per cent of the county's population responded. Bay Area doctors to surpass this high percentage.

Dr. Leedham counselled the doctors that, based on experience from several communities like Cleveland, "success or failure of the K.O. POLIO campaign depends on how well all groups are impressed with the need for the vaccine as a final blow to a crippling and sometimes fatal disease."

How To Raise Juvenile Delinquents

The police department of Houston, Texas, gives to the parents of each juvenile who runs afoul of the law 12 rules for raising a juvenile delinquent.

1—Begin with infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up believing the world owes him a living.

2—When he picks up "bad" or "dirty" words, laugh at him. That will make him think he is "cute." He will run off and pick up some words that will blow the top off your head.

3—Never give him any spiritual training until he is 21, and then let him decide for himself. By the same logic, never teach him the English language, maybe when he is old enough he will want to speak Bantu.

4—Praise him in the presence of all the neighbors; show how much smarter he is than all the neighbors' children.

5—Avoid the use of the word "wrong." It may develop in the child a "guilt complex." This will prepare him to believe that when he is punished later on for stealing cars that society is "against him" and that he is being "persecuted."

6—Pick up everything after him: his shoes, his socks, his clothes. Do everything for him, so that he will be experienced in throwing burdens on others.

7—Let him read anything he wants. Have no concern whatever for what goes into his mind. Provide him with Lily cups for his lips, but let his brain drink out of a dirty container for words, and ideas.

8—Quarrel frequently in the presence of your children. In this way they will be prepared for broken homes later on.

9—Give him all the spending money he wants; never let him earn his own.

10—Satisfy every craving of the child for food, drink, and everything that has to do with the sense of taste and touch, gratify his every sensual desire.

11—Take his part against policemen and neighbors. They are all prejudiced against your child.

12—When he gets into real trouble, always defend YOURSELF and say: "I never could do anything with him."

Average Veteran Home Buyer's Age Is 34

The average veteran home buyer in 1961 was not quite 34 years old and paid about $14,315 for his home, Glenn Corbitt, manager of the northern California Veterans Administration regional office, announced this week.

Although the ages of veteran home buyers ranged from under 25 years to over 50, those in the 30-34 age bracket bought 32 per cent of the homes purchased. Those in the 25-29 age bracket bought 29 per cent, according to a sample survey recently completed by the Veterans Administration.

With $14,315 as the average price paid for homes bought with Veterans Administration-guaranteed loans, homes costing less than $12,000 accounted for 25 per cent of all homes purchased. The majority of homes bought, however, were either in the $12,000 to $14,999 bracket (34 per cent) or the $15,000 to $19,999 bracket (35 per cent).

More than 66 per cent of the veterans bought new homes with an average price of $15,065 while nearly 34 per cent bought older homes with an average price of $12,840.

Approximately 20 per cent of the veterans in the sample bought their homes with down payments averaging about ten per cent of the purchase price. The other 80 per cent of the veteran home buyers made no down payment, but paid closing costs when not absorbed by the seller.

Thus the overall average down-payment was slightly more than two per cent of the purchase price. The percentage of down-payment varied according to the age of the veteran, ranging from less than one per cent for those under 25 to more than three per cent for those 40 and over, Corbitt said.

The average monthly income (after taxes) of the veteran home buyer varied from $405.40 for those under 25 years of age to $505.00 for those 50 years of age and over. The overall average for all age brackets was $471.50.

The housing expenses of the veteran averaged $131.35, equivalent to nearly 28 per cent of his monthly income.

This figure included the principal and interest payments on his loan, taxes and insurance, and estimated fuel, utility and repair and maintenance costs.

Reading Clinic At San Jose State College

Fir the fifth consecutive year, San Jose State College will offer a summer class to develop reading ability of elementary schoolers who are up to school average in reading but who are not reading for recreation.

The clinic-type session, to be held daily in the college library August 13 through August 31, has a limited enrollment, and parents of children to be considered for admission are asked to apply as soon as possible to the class director, Dr. Robert E. Newman, assistant professor of education, San Jose State College.

Applications will be accepted July 30 through July 31, and those applying are asked to send written descriptions of their children's reading habits and abilities to Dr. Newman. No telephone inquiries or telehoned applications will be accepted, he announced.

The class will meet daily from 10:45 to 11:30 a. m., and youngsters should plan an additional two to four free hours each day for personal reading, according to the director. Children are eligible if they will enter second through sixth grades this fall. A $4.50 admission fee is charged to help pay costs of materials used.

The class will attempt to show youngsters that reading can be exciting and deeply satisfying, Dr. Newman stressed. A survey of class results indicates that average gain in the children's reading ability has been one and a half years after ten hours of clinical guidance, he added.

875,000 War Veterans In N. Calif.

The latest survey made by the Veterans Administration shows there are some 875,000 war veterans now living in Northern California, according to Glenn Corbitt, manager of the.. Northern.. California.. VA Regional Office.

Of this total number, 620,000 are veterans of World War II. There are 149,110 veterans of the Korean Conflict while an additional 34,780 veterans, already listed with the World War II veterans, saw service also in the Korean Conflict.

Northern California also has 99,900 veterans of World War I according to the latest VA tally while an additional 5,920 veterans of the Spanish-American War, the Indian Wars and career ex-servicemen who now receive compensation reside in Northern California.

The total number of veterans as of May 31, 1962 the date of this survey, stood at 22,281,000 with 15,127,000 World War II veterans; 4,542,000 Korean Conflict veterans; 2,465,000 World War I veterans; and 147,000 other veterans including Spanish-American War, Indian Wars and career exservicemen comprising the Regular Establishment.

Trout Fishing Good Despite Disease

Fishermen heading for their favorite streams in northeastern Shasta and Modoc counties will find trout planted as usual despite the loss of a major portion of the plantable rainbow trout in Crystal Lake Hatchery to a unique parasite, reports the Department of Fish and Game.

The disease which did the damage brought a halt to planting from this hatchery, but lakes and streams which are normally planted from this source are being covered by Darrah Springs and Mt. Shasta hatcheries.

Forest Fires Show Increase

An alarming increase in man-caused forest fires was pointed out last week by Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, chairman of the California State Chamber of Commerce statewide natural resources committee.

Despite normal winter precipitation, Dr. Sproul commented, extremely dry spring weather has made it essential that all vacationers exercise extreme caution during the critical fire period ahead.

There have been 35 per cent more fires from January 1 to June 30, 1962, than the average for the same six-month period in the five preceding years, according to the state division of forestry. Their records show a total of 959 fires on forest, range and watershed areas under their protection this year, compared with 862 fires in the same period last year, and 652 in the first six months of 1960. Dr. Sproul noted that of this year's total, 936 fires were caused by man's thoughtlessness.

Dollar damage increased 11 per cent over the similar period last year, and 145 per cent over the first six months of 1960 on lands protected by the state division of forestry.

National forest lands suffered 273 fires during the first six months of this year, of which 72 per cent were man caused, as compared with 47 per cent during the same period last year.

"The long term disastrous effect of man's carelessness is evident in the recent Morris fire early this month in San Gabriel Canyon, Los Angeles County," Dr. Sproul declared. "The 900-acre blaze, caused by a careless smoker, resulted in total watershed damage of more than half a million dollars, presenting a serious silt hazard in an important reservoir during next winter's rains. It will be many years before that watershed is restored."

USF To Host Career Women Conference

Advance registrations are reported coming in three months early for "Room at the Top," an all-day conference for women careerists and management trainees, to be held October 6 at the University of San Francisco.

The USF management development center and the San Francisco Business and Professional Women's Club are cosponsoring the event. Last year's first-time conference under the same title drew capacity attendance and national notice.

Dr. Mortimer J. Adler, director of the Institute of Philosophical Research in San Francisco, will give the keynote address. His topic and the conference theme will be "Focus on Communication." The theme underscores communication as a management tool and an ingredient of success for women who aspire to decision-making roles in business and the professions.

State Bond Sales Show Increase

"Current state participation in the national Freedom Bond Drive is boosting U. S. Savings Bonds sales in northern California," George A. McQueen, San Mateo County Savings Bonds chairman, reported last week.

"During June alone the 1962 drive was supported by citizens in northern California who bought $10,615,654 worth of Series E and Series H Savings Bonds," the chairman said and compared this with sales for June of last year which reached $10,285,887.

"Savings Bonds sales throughout northern California for the first six months of 1962 now amount to $64,981,513," the chairman said. "During the same period a year ago $63,025,186 worth of Savings Bonds were sold.

Brilliant red blazer jackets worn by members of the orchestra — a background of bubbles floating in the air as the "Champagne Music" of Lawrence Welk filled the San Francisco Civic Auditorium.

A capacity audience thoroughly enjoyed the entertaining program, many times interrupting the show with applause, and during the intermission surrounding the popular band leader for autographs. Certainly this illustrates the power of television because he has built up this enthusiasm through his delightful Saturday show over ABC, KGO-TV.

The entire program was beautifully balanced with music from classical to popular, from comedy routines to love songs. We have interviewed Mr. Welk several times and have found him to be a very genuine and sincere person besides being a most talented musician. He thoroughly enjoys people and wants to play music for them that they enjoy hearing. He is a master showman and although he has become very famous, still retains a certain humility and boyish charm that insures his music will always have a warm spot in the heart of viewers.

Did you happen to see the Union Square fashion show over KRON-TV last week? We did, and frankly we were disappointed. In this column we have consistently talked about having fashion shows on television, but somehow last week's show did not impress us. In the first place, it was not in color. As we have reiterated many times, color TV is made for fashion shows. The commentary seemed quite stilted and forced; the music was not suitable. We did like the fashions though, and hope there will be more fashion shows on television. Women love them!

Wonder Of Stafa Recommended Here

Perennial asters are not made as much of in California as they are in other parts of the United States. For one reason or another — usually time — our gardeners do not choose to give these daisies the attention they need for best appearances.

There is one member of the family, however, which the California Association of Nurserymen recommends highly for California conditions. It thrives in the heat of our inland valleys and in the cooler gardens along the coast. It yields a summer-fall mass of bright blue daisy flowers, which do much to liven the garden setting in period when any extra touches are nice to have around. The name of this easy-to-grow aster is frikartii — or, if you prefer common names, Wonder of Stafa.

Wonder of Stafa is a shrubby perennial of some two feet high. Its blooms somewhat resemble a "Blue Marguerite" though that name is reserved for another daisylike perennial which we'll consider below. Under favorable conditions, these fetching flowers are two and three inches across, though under conditions of semi-neglect they are usually two inches at most and still attractive.

Where other perennial asters need rather exacting attention, including division every year in the manner of chrysanthemums, Wonder of Stafa has a compact habit and is happy to be left alone year in and year out. It is this easy attitude toward life that ranks it high with gardeners who grow it. It does like water enough to ward off thirst and an occasional shot of liquid fish to brace it for a long bloom season.

We use Wonder of Stafa in the garden border where the plants can be massed in groups or strung out to form a medium high row of blue. When using it in combination with Yellow Marguerites — and such practice is highly recommended — place it in front of the taller growing Marguerites. You'll find it attractive also when combined with any number of other annuals and perennials—with pink and white petunias, for instance, or with Ageratum, Lobelia and summer chrysanthemums. It blends with tall border, Phlox, Penstemons and Marigolds, both short and tall. The blue flowers have a way of associating happily.

Gardeners with a liking for the showy brilliance of dwarf cushion chrysanthemums may want to try planting the other perennial asters—especially the dwarf varieties which match mums for bright color in late summer. These are usually only to be found in spring, so mark your calendar for next year and try planting them then.

There's another blue "daisy" which takes to California gardens with an ease that's almost too good to be true. Felicia, or Blue Marguerite, is so happy here that is selfsows, and while all the offspring aren't as fine as those selected plants which you start with from the nursery, they have thir good points.

Felicia provides year-round bloom, or would if we didn't force it to take time out by cutting it back once a year. This is properly done in late summer, but can be accomplished at any time when the gardener feels growth has become somewhat rangy. Trouble with cutting it back in spring is that you miss out on a few weeks of bloom at a time when you want to be out in the garden and enjoying it.

The Blue Marguerite produces masses of daisy flowers that are smaler than those of Wonder of Stafa, but this is excusable when you consider that they are produced over a twelve-month period in most of the state. Like the aster which it resembles, Felicia is good for cutting and mixing in old-fashioned informal bouquets with yellow and white Marguerites. In the garden, it is a wonderful border plant, providing year-round color and evergreen foliage. You can use it, too, in tubs on a sunny deck for close-in show.

top of the hill

By ARTEMUS BIERCE

We were sitting here in the offices on this overcast morn, musing on what to write about for this week's column. It seems that all of a sudden Daly City has become a model little city with no dirt under its carpets. This may well be a tribute to the city officials, but it doesn't help our job any.

While scanning San Jose avenue from our ivory tower at the top of the hill, we noticed a police cruiser pull around the corner and stop abruptly in front of our offices.

Two handsome Daly City policemen bounded out of the silver prowler, withdrawing their revolvers as they hit the pavement. The intrepid officers were obviously ready to make a pinch.

"This is too good to be true," we uttered to ourselves. A real scoop right in front of our office—something we have always dreamed about . . . the stories coming to us, instead of us going to the stories.

Our brain soon became a maze of inquisitive thoughts—which is quite unique if you know our brain. It does its most strenuous mental gymnastics when we are asleep.

Anyway, we decided that we had better get outside for a closer look at the action. Visions of a plump by-line, and maybe even a bonus, danced in our oblong head.

"Wonderful," we exclaimed to ourselves, hardly able to contain the excitement which vibrated through us. We grabbed our overcoat, galoshes and Ernie Davis fedora, and tip-toed out into the gray July morn. Over at the corner the two officers had already corraled their prey and were administering the law in their official capacity.

After much effort, we unbended our crossed eyes and were taken aback at the sight we saw. The culprit was our auto.

"Aha, there, my fine fellow . . . what are you doing?" we asked, putting forth a bold front.

One of the officers came over to us while the other one kept writing on a little yellow piece of paper. "Is this your car?" he courteosuly asked.

"Yes," we replied. "What has it done wrong?"

"It has been sitting here for over 120 hours, which is five days. It is considered an abandoned car and is in violation of Section 1222-A of the Municipal Code," he firmly stated.

We explained to the officer that sometimes it takes a little time for our brain to get untracked and we lose all concept of time.

Fortunately for us, the Daly City Police Department is a very fair organization and they sympathized with our plight. We assured them in the future that we would be more careful and give our car a good wash so it wouldn't look like a pile of junk, which it is.

When we got back in the office we got to thinking that this is a good ordinance. It helps keep the peoples' cars in their garages, where they are much safer, and it keeps the abandoned, dirty old clunks—which by some strange reason bear a striking semblance to our car—off of our streets.

So what first looked like a conspiracy to undermine Ol' Artemus turns out to be a law which helps make Daly City a better place to live—which is alright with us.

There is a good reason why Pacifica postman Ralph Boyer doesn't quite believe in the old adage that "a dog is a mailman's best friend."

Boyer was bitten on the hand last week by a large black dog who answered to the name of "Sambo," while carrying out his duties on Fassler drive, near Terra Nova boulevard. The week prior the same dog chased him down the street after he had delivered the mail.

The culprit is still at large. So if you run across a dog named Sambo, and you have a mail sack on your back, LOOK OUT!

Sometimes an attempted suicide isn't quite the real thing.

Last week in Pacifica a 35-year-old woman slashed her wrist with a razor. When police arrived in response to her call she was standing in the kitchen conversing nonchalantly over the telephone.

She then hung up and turned to officer Ed Sarsfield and complained to him that her husband didn't love her anymore.

Then she asked to be arrested.

The officer told her that he couldn't arrest her because she hadn't done anything wrong—yet. Whereupon she struck her husband and then told the officer to arrest her.

She didn't end up in the cooler—but did end up in the community hospital, for observation.

Pacifica Rec Dept. Has Increased Attendance

Monday will begin the fifth week of summer playgrounds, and the Pacifica Park, Beach & Recreation department announced last week that attendance has been greater this season than in the past.

Youngsters ranging in age between six years and teens have been enjoying activities from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. daily at Westview, Pacific Manor, Sharp Park, Vallemar, Sanchez and Pedro Valley Schools. Linda Mar School is open from 1 to 4 p.m. daily due to summer school at that location.

The daily themes for the week will be Queen & King for a Day, Hawaii Day, Wheel Day, Cowboy and Indian Day, and Roller Skating Day. The leaders on each playground plan activities and special events on their area, so children should check with the playground nearest their home for specific program details.

The movie of the week will be "Robinhood" and will be shown today, Wednesday, July 25, at Westview and Pacific Manor.

The excursion for the week will be for seventh and eighth graders from all schools. They will leave the playgrounds at 10:30 a.m. and will travel by bus to Junipera Serra Park where they will eat their 'sack lunches.' After lunch they will go to the Rolladium in San Mateo for an afternoon of skating. The fee for the trip will be $1.25 and children may sign up at their neighborhood playground.

For information regarding any of the Park, Beach & Recreation department programs, call FL 5-4151.

Investigation Bares Stolen Car Cases

Bay Area car thieves have lost one important market for their stolen goods, The Times learned last week.

Arrested and charged with four counts of receiving stolen property was Charles "Reverend" Moore, doing business as Adams Auto Parts at 940 Custer street in San Francisco.

Among the numerous dismatled stolen late model cars found at Moore's wrecking yard were parts belonging to automobiles reportedly stolen from Harold J. and Gary Lee Cassidy, of 178 Palisades drive, and Mae Estola, of 174 Palisades drive, Daly City.

Continuing investigation by the San Francisco police department, the National Auto Theft Bureau and the California Department of Motor Vehicles indicate that many more stolen automobiles were dismantled at Moore's yard.

Detective Philip LaBruzzo of the Daly City police department reported last week that, in addition to the two cases already cleared, a third may be solved pending further investigation.

Detective LaBruzzo also reported that Moore paid $50 per stolen car.

Also arrested have been James McKinney and James J. Gwin, partners in Jim's Auto Wrecking at 170 Keith street. The two were arrested on the authorization of the San Francisco District Attorney's office and charged with seven counts of receiving stolen property and one count of conspiracy.

The crumbling of the stolen car network began June 1 when a 1958 Oldsmobile was reported stolen by an Adam Washington near his home. More than two weeks later, on Saturday, June 16, a friend told Washington he had seen parts of his stolen car in Moore's wrecking yard. Washington verified the information and called San Francisco police.

A search of the yard revealed many parts stripped from late model automobiles that were identified by the National Auto Theft Bureau as coming from stolen cars.

McKinney's and Gwinn's arrests came when an auto repair shop reported to the Department of Motor Vehicles that it had purchased sections of late model cars from them. An examination at the pair's office uncovered additional parts which the two admitted purchasing from Moore several days after the latter's arrest.

All three suspects have been held to answer on charges of receiving stolen property and released on bail. Court appearances have not been scheduled but investigation is continuing in San Francisco.

HOW DOES CAR ROLL?

On level ground, the well-lubricated car on which the brakes are not sticking should be fairly easy to roll by hand, points out the National Automobile Club. If it is not, lubrication, brakes and tire pressures might be checked to advantage.

Goodwin, 162 Avalon drive, Daly City, recently participated with other personnel from the Second Infantry division in Exercise Clear Lake, a 17-day joint Army-Air Force training maneuver conducted by the U. S. Strike Command at Eglin Air Force Base, Florida.

Clear Lake, which involved more than 7,000 Army and Air Force personnel, was designed to further develop the ability of U. S. Strike Command units to function as a team capable of immediate combat deployment to any area of the world to meet any situation.

An assistant operations officer for the division's 12th Artillery at Fort Benning, Ga., Captain Goodwin entered the Army in 1947 and was last stationed in Turkey.

The 38-year-old officer is a 1941 graduate of Seminole (Okla.) High School and attended the University of California at Berkeley.

SF State Thesbians Present 'The Visit'

Ziska Baum and her co-star, Dean Goodman, are playing the leads in San Francisco State College Theatre's production of "The Visit" by Fredrich Ducrrenmatt.

Directed by Tom Tyrrell, who also directed the "Cherry Orchard" this year at State, "The Visit" is a steely drama of vengence and powerful wealth.

As the last of the "Athens to Broadwoy" trilogy produced at State this summer "The Visit" makes a full circle as a modern compliment to "The Electra" of Sophocles. Few contemporary plays owe such a clear cut debt to the tradition of classic drama.

Although Fredrich Duerrenmatt's plays only recently have begun to excite attention in the United States, he has a solid ruputation in Europe, and is considered to be one of the most interesting writers in the German language. "The Visit" is the seventh play he has published. He was last represented in New York with "Fools Are Passing Through" in 1958.

"The Visit" will be performed in the Main Auditorium at 8:30 p.m. July 26, 27, and 28. For tickets and information call or write the Creative Arts box office; Monday through Friday.

SM Co. Not Bound By Salary Deadline

San Mateo County may pass a supplemental salary ordinance during the fiscal year, and is not bound by a salary increase deadline of July 1, ruled Attorney General Stanley Mosk this week.

The charter requirement fixing July 1 does not preclude the county from making changes in salary schedules in keeping with general prevailing wages in San Mateo County.

"We believe that the requirement that a salary ordinance be enacted and salaries 'fixed' before July 1 was intended to insure that salaries are fixed at least annually and by a date convenient for budget purposes," the attorney general's opinion states. "We do not believe such was intended as a limitation upon the general powers of the board to 'fix and regulate' the compensation of county employees set forth in Article III, section 2(d) of the charter."

This conclusion is supported by the charter requirement that the civil service commission make "additional" salary surveys from time to time and recommend salary changes relative to payment of comparable salaries to the classified civil service and persons employed on an hourly or per diem basis.

The opinion was prepared by Deputy Attorney General Clayton P. Roche of San Francisco.

SM Congress Candidate Aids In Boat Tax Defeat

The Department of Interior last week agreed with William J. Keller, Democratic candidate for Congress, San Mateo County, to abandon its request for a per foot tax on small boats.

Keller in Washington for a candidates meeting with President John F. Kennedy, received this assurance from John A. Carver, Jr., assistant secretary of the interior.

The proposed tax would have affected hundreds of small boats in San Mateo County and thousands throughout the state of California.

Boat owners objected because the tax would have been levied against boats in relation to size rather than their relative value. As a direct result of Keller's action, Carver agreed that "we will not press for the per foot tax."

"This decision reverses the department's previous stand and represents a substantial victory for San Mateo County boat owners," Keller said.

DFG Head Warns Hunters Of Fire Danger

"Sportsmen—be careful with your fires," urged Walter Shannon, director of the Department of Fish and Game, this week. "Available public lands for hunting and fishing are more valuable than ever with our increasing population looking for outdoor recreation. Don't take a chance on ruining your favorite fishing or hunting spot by being careless with fire," he warned.

"Despite the fact that hunters and fishermen caused only six percent of the fires on California National Forest Lands in 1961, which was a decrease from 1960, although there was a general increase in the number of fires; even one fire is one too many," Shannon stated.
